Description of Activity	Visiting an old age home can be a humbling and eye-opening experience. It is a chance to connect with the elderly population and learn from their experiences. In this event, students had share their visit to an old age home, highlighting students first impressions and observations upon arrival, interactions with the residents, and reflections on the importance of spending time with and caring for the elderly population. During this visit, students had the opportunity to interact with several residents. They shared their stories and experiences with students, from their childhood memories to their experiences during the war. Students were struck by their resilience and humor, despite the challenges they had faced. It was clear that many of them enjoyed having visitors and appreciated the opportunity to share their stories. However, there was also a hint of melancholy, as if the residents were resigned to their fate of living in an old age home. During my visit, students had the opportunity to interact with several residents. They shared their stories and experiences with students, from their childhood memories to their experiences during the war. Students were struck by their resilience and humor, despite the challenges they had faced. It was clear that many of them enjoyed having visitors and appreciated the opportunity to share their stories. Reflecting on my visit, students realized the importance of spending time with and caring for the elderly population. As a society, we often focus on the younger generations, forgetting the valuable knowledge and experiences that the elderly have to offer. Visiting an old age home can be a small but meaningful way to show our appreciation for this population and learn from their experiences. It is also a reminder to cherish the time we have with our loved ones and to never take their presence for granted. Further, fruits, biscuits, clothes, afternoon meals were given as a token of gratitude to the elders. In conclusion, this programmed to the old age home was a humbling and rewarding experience. It allowed me to connect with the elderly population, learn from their experiences, and reflect on the importance of spending time with and caring for the elderly. It is my hope that more people will take the time to visit and support these communities, and that students can work towards a society that values and cherishes the elderly population.
